

ANTI-TRUST MILL AND ITS GRIST.

Is the Stellar Week for McReynolds.

Tacco, Butter and Gas Among the Features.

Companies Must Kiss Rod or Be Smitten.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 30.—This promises to be a stellar week for the Department of Justice. Under the Sherman anti-trust act there is some unexpected hitch in the government's plans. The following cases are up for action:

(1) A settlement will be reached by the Metropolitan Tobacco Company of New York, or that company will be the object of anti-trust action.

(2) The Elgin Board of Trade will be asked to defend the anti-trust action against it in 1912 and a decision against it will be recorded at Chicago.

(3) A final report on the facts in connection with the charge of violation of the Sherman act in the case of the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia is expected. It is regarded as probable also that final judgment will be made of the report on investigation into the alleged manufacturer customs undervaluation and that there will be no effect on prosecution.

SMELTING.
The report on the investigation of "smelting trust" is in the hands of C. Todd, assistant to Atty.-Gen. McReynolds, in charge of trust prosecution, and it is said that Todd will in the preparation of the usual equity asking for the combine's dissolution.

Several months ago Frederick W. Ames, former Solicitor-General of the United States, was retained by the Elgin Board of Trade, which is accused of violating the anti-trust act, was to continue until next week before Judge Landis in the United States District Court.

The government contends that by various artifices, the price of butter is fixed by the Elgin board in violation of the Sherman act.

He Is His Own Tongue—For This We Have the Statement of the President Himself.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.]
WASHINGTON, March 30.—President Wilson was asked today if Dudley Field Malone had spoken for the president to Gov. Glynn's recent appointment in New York. BELL'S RETURN HOME.

The Major-General Will Give Up Command of the Philippine Division April 15.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.]
WASHINGTON, March 30.—Major-General J. Franklin Bell will turn over command of the Philippine division to Maj.-Gen. Barry April 15 and return to the United States after a month's stay in Europe. Arriving home, he will take up his new assignment as commander of the central department with headquarters at Chicago. His stay in Chicago, however, probably will be short, as he also has been assigned to command of the second division, with headquarters at Texas City.

The present plan is that Gen. Bell will relieve Brig.-Gen. Funston as commander of the second division, and Gen. Funston's future assignment in a measure depends on who is selected for Chief of Staff when Maj.-Gen. Wood retires April 22. If Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, commanding the cavalry division of the southern department, is selected, Gen. Funston will take command of the cavalry division, whereas he will remain as a brigade commander in the northern department.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Well-defined reports in diplomatic circles today said that Ambassador Jusserand, who has been the representative of France in this country for the past eleven years, and who is the dean of the diplomatic corps here, may be transferred to London.

It is understood that the British post was only when the Ambassador was willing to accept after his government had expressed the desire to advance him to another important post on account of his long service here. While not officially confirmed, the rumor which the diplomatic circles here came from sources that lent to its being widely credited.

WHO PASSES THE SUGAR?
Certainly Not the American Sugar Refining Company so Far as Charles H. Allen Is Aware.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.]
NEW YORK, March 30.—Fixing of prices and methods of distributing products of the American Sugar Refining Company have not been dictated by any one to the knowledge of Charles H. Allen since he became president of the company, last July.

Mr. Allen testified today in the government's dissolution suit against the company under the Sherman anti-trust law. If dictation existed, he said, it was without his knowledge or the authority of the board of directors.

Since Horace Havemeyer retired from the board of directors none of the Havemeyer family has had any interest in the corporation so far as the witness knew, he said. He did not recall that he had ever heard of any meeting of the directors any discussion as to the management of beet sugar companies in regard to prices, output and distribution.

Mr. Allen was the first witness called by the defense upon the resumption of hearings in this city. For two months taking testimony has been in progress in Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and other cities in the West.

SUFFRAGETTES DODGE TROUBLE.

Shafroth Amendment Worries Conference.

National Board Asked to Let It Simmer.

Speaker Declares Nebraska Men Are Like Sheep.

[BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) March 30.—The possibility of a controversy over the Shafroth and Bristow suffrage amendments, now pending before Congress, arising in the Mississippi Valley suffrage conference here tomorrow developed tonight, when it became known that a conference of suffragists opposed to the Shafroth amendment had been held. It had been announced in Chicago last week that the subject would not be brought up, and it was understood tonight that an effort would be made to keep it from the floor of the conference tomorrow.

Miss Alice Paul of Washington, D. C., president of the Congressional Suffrage Union, which is said to favor the Bristow amendment, was present at a gathering of about twenty-five leading suffragists this afternoon, at which the Shafroth amendment and its meaning to the suffrage movement at large was discussed. As a result the following telegram, addressed to the official board of the National American Women Suffrage Association, was made public:

"Many members of the Mississippi Valley conference feel that the Shafroth amendment to amend the constitution should be left in committee until after the next convention.

"Were this done it would avoid a chance for confusion which might come were two suffrage resolutions simultaneously before the country, and would give time for mature consideration of a measure which many of us do not understand and which we want to act upon with deliberation."

The signers then asked the official board to instruct its Congressional Committee not to push the Shafroth resolution, nor to ask its report from the Senate committee.

Mayor James K. Hanna delivered an address of welcome at the night session, and Mrs. Maud Wood Park of Boston was the principal speaker, her subject being, "World Status of Women."

IN NEBRASKA.
Women in Nebraska seeking suffrage soon found that the men were very like a flock of sheep," said Mrs. Draper Smith of Omaha, in addressing the conference. In discussing the subject, "How We Did It in Nebraska," Mrs. Smith said there was little difficulty experienced in getting men to sign petitions for suffrage when a few of them had taken the initiative.

"SUFFS" TO CELEBRATE.

By direction of Mrs. Grace Wilbur Trout, president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association, a proclamation was sent out today urging that suffragists in Illinois, men, women and children, turn out and parade on the day of rejoicing.

The Richest Boy.

Rhode Island laws, were invalid in New York State, where part of the estate was located. An action was brought to test this point and the court has found that the bequests were valid. The estate will now be administered.

John Nicholas Brown, Jr., is the great-grandson of Nicholas Brown, the founder of Brown University. As an infant he was known as "the $10,000,000 baby." When he attains his legal majority he will be numbered among the richest men in America. Young Brown has spent practically all his life at Newport, with the exception of an occasional visit to Europe. His home is Harbour Court, on Hailson Hill, a large, old-fashioned place that makes but a modest showing in comparison with the great mansions on all sides. Here the "richest boy" has grown up under the watchful eye of his mother, Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, whose life bugaboo has been the fear that her son might be kidnapped and held for ransom.

The boy has never been allowed to go about alone. As an infant he was accompanied everywhere by a nurse and a bodyguard. Since he has grown older he has been allowed a little more freedom, but even now he is seldom seen without a "companion" whose broad shoulders and muscular frame afford outward evidence that the owner is well qualified to teach his young charge the art of self-defense.

John Nicholas Brown first came into the limelight as a "baby Croesus" when his father of the same name died in 1900, only a few months after the birth of his son. The boy's mother was formerly Mrs. Natalie Dresser, a sister of Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt. The Browns descended from one of the oldest Rhode Island families, tracing back to the Rev. Chad Brown, who came to America in 1638, shortly after Roger Williams. For over a century the Browns were connected with the shipping firm of Brown & Ives.

Ex-Gov. Patterson is to speak in The Auditorium (Theater Beautiful) tonight.—[Advertisement.]

Get under a hat meant for you

DON'T just be hatted. Get under the hat that is meant for your type of head and face, stature and personality.

A man may wear a $20 STETSON, but if it doesn't tune to him it makes him feel as batty as a goat and look as comfortable and smart as a "bull in a china shop."

It's impossible for a man buying a new hat to judge very much about it himself. He is used to the old hat he is discarding. All new hats look wrong on him.

He must rely on the hatter. And a good many hatters who ought to know don't, nor care. "Sell him a hat and get the money" is the way a lot look at it.

F. B. Silverwood is noted throughout the West, not only for our $3 "Hill-top" hat value, but the width of our selections, our keenly whetted hat style tastes, and great stocks of STETSON hats.

And one thing more—and the greatest of all.

—we have the best hatters this side of Chicago. Men proud of their profession. Men who know what hats belong to what heads and faces, statures and personalities.

You always get the hat that is meant for YOU at the "Store with a conscience." No time wasted doing it either.

ALL HIS'N NOW. After Years of Contest Hunter's Property on Rockefeller Adirondack Game Preserve Is Sold to Him.

MALONE (N. Y.) March 30.—Word was received today that the Rockefeller-Lamora feud has been ended by William Lamora selling the cabin and grounds left him by his father, a hunter and trapper, who refused to sell his property to make up a portion of William Rockefeller's vast Adirondack game preserve.

In 1882 William Rockefeller bought 50,000 acres, but could not procure Oliver Lamora's cabin and clearing, which stood in the way. Out of this arose a legal battle between the oil dealer's agents and the old trapper.

Helping Kidneys By Clearing Blood. A Function Greatly Assisted By a Well-Known Remedy.

Most readers will be interested to more clearly understand why analysis of urine is so important in the use of S. S. S. to purify the blood. Its action is a stimulant to the myriad of fine blood vessels that make up the constructive tissues of the kidneys. All the blood from all over the body must pass through the kidneys. They act as filters, separating out of the blood what they allow to pass out in the urine, both as to quantity and materials. The health of the kidneys and the quality of the blood is determined. The catalytic energy forced by S. S. S. is shown in the urine. It is also demonstrated in the skin. And as the blood continues to sweep through the kidneys, the dominating nature of S. S. S. acting as it does through all the avenues of elimination, shows a marked decrease of disease manifestations as demonstrated by urine analysis. This assistance is a great relief to the kidneys. The body wastes are more evenly distributed to the excretory organs. Their elimination is stimulated by the tonic action afforded the liver, lungs, skin and kidneys. Thus, in cases of rheumatism, erythema, sore throat, hives, urticaria, chronic constipation, indigestion, bronchitis, asthma, and the myriad of other reflex indications of weak kidney action, first purify your blood with S. S. S., so it will enable the tissues to rebuild the cellular strength and regain the normal health. S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 227 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and if you have any deep-seated or obstinate blood trouble, write to their Medical Dept. for free advice.

Nile-Land Farms of Imperial Valley, Offer a Most Unique Profit-Opportunity to You!

GOOD farm land is the best investment in the world. Nothing else is so sure, so certain, so PERMANENT. Imperial Valley land is not only GOOD land—it is the BEST land! Imperial Valley soil is proclaimed by experts to be even richer and more productive than the famous Valley of the Nile in Egypt—and Nile-Land Farms, 47,000 acres in all, comprise the LAST of the irrigable land available in this great garden spot of California.

The last of any good property invariably sells fast. A demand has been created, the soil proven its productivity, and the pioneering completed. Just such a tract is Nile-Land Farms. Here in Imperial Valley, men are making $2000 to $20,000 a year over and above all expenses—here wonderful farms have blossomed forth in a country that once seemed destined to remain a desert—here you find great harvests of the choicest fruits known to the world, as well as every kind of garden truck and endless fields of barley, alfalfa and cotton. There is no greater dairy country in California—and hogs and alfalfa are bringing bumper profits. Ten per cent. on your money and an additional 10 per cent. in increased valuation of your property is what we offer you here on a Nile-Land Farm. Can you beat that? Can you put your money in any commercial enterprise and get HALF this revenue? No! Then here's a LOGIC-AL investment for you to make. Here's the LAST irrigable land in Imperial Valley offered to you at unprecedented prices. Think of it!—10, 20, and 40-acre Nile-Land Farms, close in, at $100 per acre; 80, 160, 320 and 640-acre tracts at $65 to $125 an acre. Only 20 per cent. down, balance in four equal annual payments at 7% interest. All contracts and deeds are made from the Title Insurance & Trust Company, and on tracts of 80 acres or more, 5% discount allowed for cash, and deed and certificate of title delivered.

Col. W. H. Holabird, an acknowledged authority predicts that all these Nile-Land Farms will be worth $250 to $500 an acre before very long, and if any man is competent to make such a statement concerning the future of Imperial Valley, Col. Holabird certainly is the man. Let us tell you what YOU can consistently expect from a 10 or 20-acre Nile-Land Farm. Come in TODAY—and arrange to go over Nile-Land Farms in automobile.

Shows Generosity.

Touched with compassion for Paul Hardy, the father who has had to look after a wife and child, both in plaster casts at a local hospital, L. H. Dunn, a mining man, Fairview, Nev., sent a check to The Times yesterday for $10. This will be applied to the Hardy fund, which is being taken care of by Mrs. C. M. Sterry of No. 2632 Ellendale place.

Circus Is Coming.

A new spectacle "warpath" is promised in the performance of the Santa Fe Circus and Buffalo Bill (himself), which is to exhibit in this city April 13, 14 and 15. The spectacle will include many Indians famous for their parts in wars of the past, cowboys, ropers, vaqueros, ranch girls and soldiers, and will depict the progress of civilization from the time of the frontier to the present day. There are to be the regular circus acts also. Parades are to be given every morning.

Artistic Blotters.

Although Emerson has been erroneously credited with saying that if you made a mouse-trap better than anyone else a path would be worn to your door by people who prized excellence, the aphorism is just as true today as it was then. It is not of mouse-traps that we speak, but of blotters. The Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House, S. W. Crabb, manager, is distributing a calendar-blotted for April that represents the finest of artistic workmanship. It is a duotone reproduction of a photograph from a clay or wax model in bas-relief, reproduced with shadows and highlights.

Patrolman G. L. Stow of No. 1840 Girard street, traffic officer at Eighth and Hill streets, was struck by an automobile truck early this evening while at his post, hurled under a passing street car and just barely saved from the loss of both legs by a protruding bit of iron on the car which knocked his legs from under the wheels.

The automobile truck, which belongs to the Parmelee-Dohrmann Company, was driven by Ottmar Greed, of No. 724 Beacon street. He was unhurt, although he lost his balance on the driver's seat and fell to the ground.

Colored Man Accused of Smuggling Opium Places Blame on Mysterious White Man.

"It was this way, judge," said Harry Williams, colored, in the United States District Court yesterday, charged with smuggling smoking opium into the country. "I was in Tia Juana and a white man came up to me and asked if I wanted to carry a small package to San Diego. He said his wife was sick and he couldn't go. I asked him what it was and he told me it was mustard, but that I should give it to nobody, and tell no one what the package contained. He was to meet me on H street in San Diego."

The Old Story that Williams was given the opium by an unknown white man did not impress the court and he and his co-defendant, Pleasant Jackson, were given six months in the County Jail at San Diego. Jackson made no statement except to say: "I'm guilty, all right."

HAS PURCHASED "TIGER'S TAIL."

ILLINOIS MAN TO SPEND LARGE SUM ON RESIDENCE.

Country Estate in Brentwood Park District to Be Planned Upon Magnificent Scale—Details of Project Are Now Being Worked Out by Designers.

A commanding and beautiful elevation in the Brentwood Park district, known on account of its peculiar conformation as the "Tiger's Tail," has been purchased by C. R. Stephens, a wealthy manufacturer of Moline, Ill., from the Santa Monica Land and Water Company. The deal closed yesterday after negotiations of several weeks, involving approximately thirty acres. The participants in the transaction decline to give the consideration, which is, of course, large, owing to the proximity of the property to San Vicente boulevard and the fashionable homes of Brentwood Park and other fine tracts in the Santa Monica Canyon region.

The new owner of the hill has announced his intention of transforming the holding into a magnificent private residence estate. He has commissioned the Milwaukee Building Company to plan and to build a palatial house of the Italian renaissance type, together with other buildings fitting into the ground layout of a pretentious suburban place. The same concern will assume charge of the elaborate landscaping scheme to be put into effect.

Details of the project have not as yet been worked out, but it is understood that the investment of the Illinois manufacturer, in improvements alone, will amount to about $100,000. The grading is to be begun at once, to be followed as soon as possible by the planting and landscaping. The grounds immediately connected with the residence will comprise some fifteen acres forming a plateau. Thousands of trees are to be set out on the sides of the hill.

Rooming-House Invaded by Police and Landlady and Two Others Are Placed Under Arrest.

Early yesterday morning, when the milkman was about starting on his rounds, a raid was made by the police on a rooming-house at No. 960 South Broadway, which resulted in the arrest of the landlady and two occupants.

It is alleged that much liquor was sold in the place, although no charges have been laid against the landlady for lack of evidence of actual sales.

Officers Kirby and McAfee made the raid. They arrested Madame Gladys Ellis, 25 years old; Mrs. Gladys Dean, 22, an inmate; and Robert Milne, 33, a visitor. The Dean woman and Milne were booked under the "rooming-house ordinance." Mrs. Ellis was booked for running a disorderly house.

The present and previous owners of the rooming-house privileges have been paying Meyer Lissner the rent, the landlady told her attorneys.

Dancing Frocks

Styles for Women and Misses
Choice Variety—Moderate Prices

THE originality of the design—the exceptional quality and beauty of materials—the pretty trimmings—all go toward making our salons the mecca of those who want something extremely fetching in dancing frocks. Just now there are scores of new models in many unusual effects.

But when you are considering the cost of it, consider also that you can save on your own apparel more than enough to make up for that cost.

The kind of suits-to-order that A. K. Brauer is putting out at $20 are really a revolution to men who appreciate real economy, and who want the most for their money. It wouldn't be exaggeration if we called many of these suits $30 values.

VACANCY CALLS
FOR DISCUSSION.Councilman's Death Leaves
Important Post Open.Chairmanship of Committees
Also at Stake.Appointment Not to Be Made Until Next Week.

Immediately following the announcement of the death of Councilman Charles McKenna yesterday morning, the subject of a probable successor in the City Council became one of discussion at the City Hall. McKenna's long illness, and the general belief that he would resign, has caused more or less consideration of this subject for several weeks. It is probable that the Council will take no action until the middle of next week.

The vacancy must be filled by election by the Council, as it carries with it the chairmanship of one of the most important municipal committees. McKenna was chairman of the Public Utilities Committee, and as such, became the member of the Council empowered under the recent charter amendments to keep a general supervision of the work of the Public Utilities Commission.

The precedent has been followed of placing new members in the positions on committees that have been held by their predecessors. This would mean that in addition to the new member being head of the Public Utilities Committee, he would have a place on the Public Safety Committee and on the Public Works Committee—this giving him a direct voice in the work of three of the most important standing committees of the city's lawmaking body.

TUNNEL WORK.

In addition to this, McKenna was the head of the special committee on tunnels, and devoted much time to plans for securing these much desired utilities for Los Angeles. The new member doubtless would be expected to take up this work and give it a great deal of attention.

A vote of five members for one candidate will be necessary to elect. A resume of the situation as developed last night is such that there is nothing definite on which to prognosticate results.

When Haines W. Reed resigned several weeks ago, and filling the vacancy was discussed, the proposition was put forward that the logical step to take was to elect the man who had the highest number of votes at the last election, next to the nine men who were elected to the Council. This same proposition is again under discussion. This would mean that Capt. H. Z. Osborne would be the logical candidate. Osborne received 7,545 votes at the last election, coming next to McKenna, who received 33,484 votes. Next following was H. P. Vellmer, who received 14,147 votes.

These places each of these men under consideration.

Other men who were mentioned at the City Hall yesterday as Councilman material, and some of whom have already begun activities to secure consideration, include Assemblyman W. A. Roberts, residing in the Highland Park district, which was the home of McKenna; and former Mayor of Los Angeles, Ernest Brautten, well known in horticultural circles, and E. Allen Phillips, of No. 6207 Crescent avenue, formerly connected with the defunct and unlamented Municipal News.

Friends of former Councilman R. W. Dromgold, in the old First Ward, are boosting him for the place, and it was announced last night that petitions in his behalf will be circulated next week for signatures.

Former Councilman Topham is also in the running, and there was some desultory talk yesterday of Haines W. Reed being willing to again resume a place in the Council. The name of George H. Dunlop, a member of the Association Commission, former Mayor of Hollywood, and father of the Frank Municipal Newsless, which bled the taxpayers a long time, has also been mentioned in this connection; but Dunlop stated yesterday that he is not a candidate, nor would he consider accepting the position were it offered him.

INTEND TO GIVE FIGHT.

Principals in Wilmington Contraband Smuggling Case Plead Not Guilty to Charges.

The principals in the Wilmington job of landing opium in this city, right under the noses of the local immigration officers, will make a fight.

Clinton Culver, William Freeman and Chew Bing of the ship Capadonia, and E. G. Mason, the chauffeur, who took the automobile to Wilmington for an alleged "house party," all pleaded not guilty in the United States District Court yesterday.

An effort will be made to have the bail reduced from the figure set by United States Commissioner Williams, which was $5000. The Capadonia has been libeled by the government and will be sold. It is not likely that the accused will be placed on trial before next fall.

He lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kolbe, at No. 203 Fairmont avenue, in Eagle Rock, and, according to his mother, was a boy who appeared considerably older than his years. He weighed 110 pounds, was five feet four inches in height, and had two moles on his face, one of them on the right cheekbone, had medium brown hair and a fair complexion. On the day of his disappearance he wore a red sweater over a striped shirt, a gray suit, a red necktie with white flowers embroidered on it, and a gray cap.

Switch Charge
Decision Due.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS HINGE
UPON DETERMINATION.

Los Angeles Jobbers Are Viciously
Affected and Expect to Win Case
Which Will Save Them Immense Toll Annually Contributed to the Railroads.

A return of $300,000 a year to Los Angeles industrial concerns on an investment of $25,000 by the Associated Jobbers hinges on the eagerly-awaited decision of the United States Supreme Court in the so-called "switching-rate" case.

"We have been expecting a decision for some weeks," said Traffic Manager Gregson of the Associated Jobbers yesterday. "If every item of our contentions is upheld, the $2.50 charge for switching interstate-handled cars to and from industrial tracks will be wiped out."

Continuing Gregson stated that $100,000 is a low estimate of the amount collected yearly by the railroads for this service within the Los Angeles switching territory. The case was before the Supreme Court for argument in January as a final to a legal battle extending over years, and the Associated Jobbers expended $125,000, and the railroads probably as much.

Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco are so far known to Gregson as the only American cities of any size where the charge is made. Not only are cars subjected to a $2.50 charge for switching to industrial tracks, but another $2.50 is collected when it is handled out, reloaded. The antecedents of the charge are lost in the past, though, as Gregson suggested, the little extra, like Topsy, probably "just grew up."

In the East, as Gregson pointed out by the drawing of the deadly parallel, they do things differently—the industrial concerns build their own little railroads and compel the railroads to pay them for handling the cars.

"It has been legalized rebating to the extent of millions of dollars yearly," said Gregson.

Throughout the East, and in a number of isolated cases in the north, part of this State, there are plant or industrial railroads. These take the cars from the railroads, handle them to the desired destination, or back again, and charge the railroads a varying percentage of the through rate.

"It is a monstrous system of parasitism," said Gregson. "But the concern which started it was the mammoth shipper, as in the Pittsburgh districts, and the railroads, having no gentlemen's agreement, have had to stand it or see competitors get the business."

"Here we have paid the railroads for setting the cars on industrial tracks which we jointly own."

THE TIMES' SCHOOL OF DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

CAKE-LOVELY, golden cake, light as a feather—an angel cake—white as foam—will be the menu offered this afternoon at The Times cooking school. These cakes were made on Saturday, as reported in Sunday's Times, and the cook lady has been letting our mouths water ever since. He said he had to eat. With truly tantalizing manner she reserved the cutting of these delectable cakes till today when they will be duly dissected and served.

Will we be there? Well, rather. Every one of us is planning to get into the front row of the middle section, for well we realize that the Scripture query might be paraphrased in this instance to read: "What are four large cakes among so many?"

For it goes without saying that the auditorium will be packed. It isn't every day that we get to sample a Haffner-Ginger cake and we propose to make the most of it. There's a Maraschino cherries and angel cake, and a chocolate frosting—and, oh, yum! yum! Just wait till this afternoon.

We watched her every step of the devoted way last Saturday when she put those cakes together from the time the first eggshell was cracked till the last cherry was safely anchored in its place on top of the finished product.

CHEMISTRY OF CAKE.

The knack of making a cake depends largely on the way you put the materials together. The cook lady says it is just like putting up a drug prescription. The pharmacist may understand the Latin names, the weights and measures, but not know how to compound. The parts have a certain chemical action upon each other at a certain time and place and they must therefore be put together properly. Cooking is much the same as a chemical proposition, anyhow. Do you know why you whip the yolks of eggs in making your yellow cake? One reason is to whip out the air which is in the egg. Aeration will change the flavor of things and make them more delicate. The flour, in creaming, butter and sugar, you should always warm the sugar slightly and soften the butter. You should put the water in before the flour on the creamed sugar and butter and eggs—and not stir it at all. Then put in your flour, beat it to beat the band. Don't on any account stir it—just everlastingly whip the air into it—and lighten it. Don't ever use vanilla as a flavoring extract for a yellow cake—it's too insipid. The yolks require an acid, like lemon. The above are some of the helpful hints dropped by the cook lady as she mixed the cake dough.

IMPORTANT AS COLLEGE.

"Which Is Bess—Mind or Body?" was the subject of a lecture delivered in Los Angeles not long since. Anyone who has had personal experience with indigestion, dyspepsia and the long train of evils in their wake would not hesitate long in declaring that the body takes the upper hand, and the mind is extremely submissive to its dictates. Our food plays an important part in the well-being of our bodies, and therefore it follows that the greatest benefit therefrom, in the whole current of one's life, the cook is as important as the college—the one fits the body, the other the mind for the battle of life.

If you heard those Stratford-Upon-Avon players in their Shakespearean recitations, and if you, with your member the soliloquy of King Henry V when he bemoans the fate of kings and mentions the being "cramm'd with distasteful bread," indicates that so great a poet as the Bard of Avon recognized the value of properly-cooked food, it is not surprising that the Times cooking school aims to teach housewives the art of so preparing and serving food as to get the greatest benefit therefrom. This afternoon at 2 o'clock Mrs. Haffner-Ginger will give another in her popular series of demonstrations, and don't forget—the cakes are to be eaten, and a Lady Baltimore cake connected.

Fred Emerson.Find He's Assumed Name

Unbalanced Mind.

A psychological problem is presented in the case of Fred L. Emerson, who disappeared from Los Angeles on the morning of November 11, 1912, after suffering an injury to the head while boarding a street car. No word was heard from the man until January 12 of this year when the first clew to his whereabouts was received from E. E. Clemens, of Terra Bella, Tulare county. Clemens by chance encountered young Emerson, with whom he had been acquainted in Emery, Cal., and spoke to him, calling him by name.

The identification was denied, the man claiming that his name was Calkins and showing a bank book and a hunting license in the name of C. Calkins, which had been issued in Oakdale, Cal. Clemens was so conclusively convinced that the man claiming to be Calkins was in reality Fred Emerson that he immediately wrote the father, Willis George Emerson of Los Angeles, relating the circumstances.

About three months previous to his disappearance, Emerson had a slight accident to his head. He apparently suffered from ill effects and seemed to be perfectly rational in every respect. On the morning of his disappearance Emerson bade his wife good-by in his accustomed manner and started for the downtown office where he was employed in the advertising department of The Times in a position of no little responsibility. The last person who is known to have seen him on that morning was his brother employed in a shop near The Times office. After leaving this shop Emerson disappeared as completely as though he never had been snatched into space.

Charles C. Calkins, whose name Emerson has assumed, if it is really he, is a cousin living at Irving Park, from whom he had learned in his infancy but of whom he had no remembrance, although he had heard of him. It is assumed that the blow on the head which Emerson sustained caused an attack of a certain kind of amnesia or loss of memory and, at the same time, caused him to resurrect the name from his subconscious mind and assume the identity of this long forgotten cousin.

Charles C. Calkins, the cousin, has never been on the Pacific Coast and is still at Irving Park.

A few days ago, W. E. Donahoe, a trusted friend of the Emerson family, who has been in Los Angeles and declared that he had at one time conducted a cigar store in Ocean Park. All of them were the past experiences of Fred Emerson.

Calkins had talked of firing on the railroads in Colorado, pitching for a team in Los Angeles and had declared that he had at one time conducted a cigar store in Ocean Park. All of them were the past experiences of Fred Emerson.

It is a peculiarity of dual personalities, even in the more aggravated cases, that the person who assumes the identity of one personality will retain characteristics and mannerisms of the other personality. This theory of the psychologists would seem to be borne out in this case.

How to Borrow Money Safely

In negotiating a loan there are many things to consider. The most important, of course, is the arrangement for repaying the loan.

Ninety out of one hundred borrowers fail to make adequate provision for repaying the loan. The result is often disastrous, causing much unnecessary worry and possible loss of property.

By our system of loaning money you eliminate all worry of this sort. The loan is paid off automatically. You arrange to pay some convenient amount each month, just as you otherwise might lay aside something each month toward paying an ordinary loan when due. But there is this great difference—that the amounts you set aside each month apply immediately on the loan as well as on the interest, thus lowering the amount still due, and decreasing the interest.

We loan money for building purposes and on improved property, and to remove an existing encumbrance on your property.

Loans in any amount not to exceed $5000. Get our terms in full.

DIVORCE JUDGE LAMENTS THE EAGERNESS OF APPLICANTS.

Alarming Increase in False Testimony on Part of Mismatched Who Desire to Gain Marital Freedom. Custody of Children Usually Given to the Wife.

Interesting inside information about the divorce court was disclosed by Judge Monroe in an address last evening before the Evening City Club at Christopher's. He spoke on the subject, "Divorce and Failure to Provide."

The jurist declared that nine-tenths of the husbands who are defendants in divorce proceedings care less than $75 a month and that most of the persons who apply for separation have been married less than five years. He said he spoke of the alarming amount of perjury by both men and women in their eagerness to obtain freedom.

"When there are children concerned they always are given first consideration," Judge Monroe began, "and follow that the mother is the one to have the custody of the children unless there is a very good reason to the contrary."

"I do not hold that a mother is unfit to care for her children because she has made one false statement. It is the habitually bad woman who is unworthy to have charge of children."

"I recall a case in which a woman was suing for divorce and made the suggestion that her husband have the custody of their young daughter. She informed me that she regarded him as competent to care for the child, but that she would not entrust enough to take care of the daughter he was good enough to take care of her and denied the divorce."

"Sometime I have been criticised because I do not allow the abused women more alimony. When there is money in the family I always make the husband divide it, but too often the man's earnings are small. I do the best I can in this particular. You must remember that usually the persons of means who sue for divorce agree on a property settlement outside of court."

Judge Monroe said that at the present time forty husbands he sentenced to jail are working on the roads and earning $1.50 a day, which was paid to the wife. He said that a number of others who are on parole are contributing a set amount to the support of their families and that the court is acting as the collection agency.

"Not all of the women who are given financial assistance through the court appreciate it. I have known one continued. 'I have in mind the case of a husband who deserted his wife and she brought her to San Francisco. Frank Stoddard, chairman of the board of managers of the Florence Crittenton Home. She got on his track and went to San Francisco, waited there for him until he arrived and then had him arrested and brought back here. I sentenced him to jail and he went to work on the roads and his wife received $1.50 a day toward the support of herself and her child."

"The wife placed the child in the care of another woman and then neglected to pay anything toward its support. The money received from her husband's earnings as a county prisoner and spent it on another man."

"I regret the prevalence of perjury in the divorce court. Both men and women are guilty of this evil. They are driven to make false representations by their intense eagerness for freedom."

Judge Monroe was asked at the conclusion of his address if he would

WHY THE WINGS?
 Winston Churchill declares the British navy leads the world in flying. We hope it keeps its domination to fight if ever the navy of this country is compelled to meet it in unfriendliness. At the same time it had not occurred to us that a navy depended upon wings for power.

THE BANKS AND THE BED.
 Tagore says that the river when it laps against its banks is not reminded of limitations, but of its open path to the sea. Are not all limitations like that? Are men to be either restrained or dissipated because of their limitations on the one hand? Does it not require the banks at two angles to give us the open road to power in a third?

THE GROUNDWIRE.
 It is the leak that wastes power by intercepting it. It defeats connection. You may be sensitive, receptive, intense and original; but a grounded wire somewhere shuts off your power and you are failing your best expression. Find the leak, stop it and get what is coming to you. It isn't possible that you should be equal to an important work and not have the energy and design for its execution.

THE WATCHMAN.
 A cartoonist says there is more real comedy inside Folsom prison than at many theaters. Since, indeed, there is often much humor, grace and virtue in men who run amuck of the laws of God and man at some one danger point, it is not well that all men look to themselves at those points of failure which break personal integrity without violating the legal code? There is good in the prison and there is bad out of the prison; and the bad outside is the most dangerous sometimes.

WHO'S WHO IN MEXICO?
 It depends on a good deal on who composes the statistics. While Villa has been exploding his way to the front, Carranza has been thinking his way to the rear, but as no one ever knows where Mexico will break out next, it would be hard to pick out a safe place. It looks as if Carranza was comfortable at Juarez, while Villa is at least active at Torreon. Still Villa says he does not want to be President, and Carranza is sure that he wants the job. Huerta appears to be neither doing nor saying anything, but it is not the sort of silence that gives consent. We do not know who is who in Mexico and heaven knows we would not pretend to say who is not.

WHAT THEY NEED.
 One hundred and twenty thousand coal miners in Italy receive 45 cents for a day's work, and food is nearly as expensive as it is in Pennsylvania. The "army of the unemployed" who are camped in the river bed in this city refuse $2.50 for ten hours' work making roads. The demand $2 for eight hours and decline to accept any employment that is calculated to induce fatigue. The officer commanding one of the companies advises his followers not to accept work and not to petition for money or food, but if they see what they want to "take it." The Times is in favor of freely giving to such lawless ruffians not what they want, but what they need—everybody knows what that is.

REMEMBER THE CHILDREN.
 Six little boys from 8 to 12 years of age have been organized as plunderers for a full year in this city in order to secure candy and cigarettes. The case is pathetic, even though they were unwelcome little boys. All sin is unwise. Folly violates common sense, whether it is criminal or not. Children want things and they do not always know the enormity of the offense of taking what is not theirs. It does not necessarily make beggars of them to surround them with every kindness that comes within the range of childhood joys and happiness. It is so easy to make life bright for them that it is a shame to pass the most ragged little urchin of the streets and not try to bring it some pleasure. Small favors are vivid in children's lives and none is so poor that he cannot afford to indulge every baby he contacts. To brighten the eyes of a child is to work a miracle. Never leave one hungry enough to steal.

"THE FLYING INN."
 The world is still doubtful whether Gilbert Chesterton is a buffoon or an evangelist. His last book, "The Flying Inn," might well have borne a subtitle, "The Gospel of Intemperance." For Saint Gilbert heads a modern crusade against the lean and scaly dragon of Sobriety.
 About the writings of Chesterton no scale of lean sobriety has ever been discovered. He does not mince matters. He loves children and romance and churches and flowers and freedom and beer with strict impartiality. The downright, undiluted intemperance of "The Flying Inn" should make it a more valuable addition to prohibition literature than the priggish self-centered "John Barleycorn" of Jack London. Chesterton is a big, uncompromising, go-the-whole-hog type of a man. When he praises beer he praises it as beer and not as an aid to temperance. Not being a prohibitionist, he prefers to be a whole-souled son of Bacchus. "The Flying Inn" is likely to have a sequel in "The Vanishing Saloon."

"SEX-CONSCIOUSNESS."

A benefactor of journalistic writers has coined or revived a compound word which may be used to advantage in dealing with a delicate subject. The word is "sex-consciousness."

"Sex-consciousness makes it difficult to be a sister" to the young man. It is an enemy of platonic love. It is the foe of those strictly business relations which ought to exist between a young or even an old lawyer, or a bank cashier, or a general manager in his private office and his pretty stenographer.

Accompanied by isolated contiguity it has been responsible for marriages which were mesalliances between cultured, wealthy widows and handsome but impecunious and ungrammatical chauffeurs who have guided their autos along lonely roads.

Sex-consciousness is being discouraged by maiden ladies of advanced years and advanced thought, especially those of the militant suffrage variety, who assert that the poet was belittling woman when he wrote:

"The world of the affections is her world. Not that man's ambition, in that stillness That most becomes a woman's calm and holy She sitteth by the fireside of the heart, Feeding its flame."

Mrs. Pankhurst had no sex-consciousness when she hurled a ripe tomato in an unconventional way at the presiding judge, and the sex-consciousness of "hizoner" was not at home when the vegetable smote him on his open judicial mouth, or, as Roosevelt would say, on his "yawning potato trap."

A lady correspondent of one of our steamed contemporaries, who is in favor of lessening the bump of sex-consciousness in the female sex, advocates the abolition of dolls. She claims that the dressing and cuddling of dolls by little girls tends to unduly and prematurely develop their maternal instincts, and that a bicycle and a baseball club are preferable to a doll-house and a miniature cradle as toys.

A lady on Boyle Heights carries her ingrained antagonism to sex-consciousness very far. She has a poultry house filled with White Leghorn hens, but no rooster is allowed on the premises, and the family feed on infertile eggs. Visiting lady does are kindly welcomed and bountifully fed. But a gentleman dog, whose sex-consciousness impels him to call does so at the risk of parting with his narrative and leaving it as a souvenir of his visit, for the lady has a butcher's cleaver and is dexterous in its use.

REVERSAL OF SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

The referendum exists in Great Britain, but it is only invoked on questions of national policy. It is called "an appeal to the people." It is ordered and directed by the government itself, and the services of paid petition peddlers are not invoked.

In thirty years there have been but three referendums there. Gladstone invoked one in 1885 in behalf of home rule and was unsuccessful. In January, 1910, an "appeal to the people" was taken on the question of conceding to the House of Lords the right to amend or reject taxation, and the government won. In December, 1910, there was submitted to the voters a proposition to reform the House of Lords, and again the government was successful.

There is no similitude between the questions that may be submitted to the people under the British referendum and the Progressive party proposition to refer Supreme Court decisions to the voters of California for affirmation or reversal.

If in Great Britain there could be submitted to the voters of the kingdom a decision of the Court of Kings Bench as to the fate of prisoners in the jail in Cornwall, or as to what fish might lawfully be taken from the sea off the coast of Essex, or as to the length of shillalaha that might be carried by visitors to Donnybrook Fair, or as to the constitutionality of forcibly feeding a lady engaged in a hunger strike, or as to the constitutionality of throwing stinkpots in court, there might be some similitude between a British referendum and a California referendum to the voters of a California Supreme Court decision on the constitutionality of an act of Holy Hiram's Legislature taking away the property of H. E. Huntington and bestowing it upon Teoplopus the Rebarber.

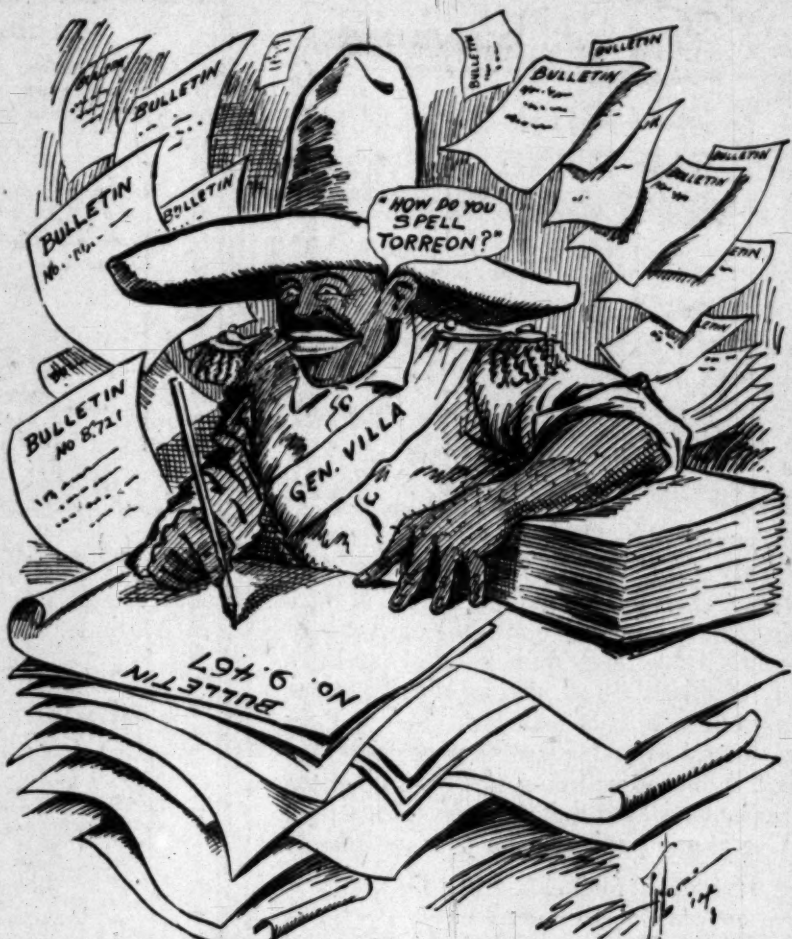

The recall of judicial decisions strikes a blow at the very vitals of representative government, for it provides for a reversal of court-decisions by secret ballot, where many ballots would be cast by ignorant, vicious and irresponsible voters. It would establish a rule of anarchy. Personal and property rights would be at the mercy of a popular majority. Laws for the collection of debts might be rendered abortive. Laws for the confiscation of property by unequal taxation might be approved by reversing Supreme Court decisions declaring them unconstitutional. It would be useless to publish Supreme Court decisions and look to them as establishing any rule or principle of law, for the voters might affirm one decision and reverse another in cases where the facts were exactly the same.

In Oregon, under the constitutional provision for the recall of judges, there was a petition for submission to the voters practically of the question as to whether a judicial decision should be reversed or affirmed. Circuit Judge John S. Coke of Douglas county refused to give the jury in a criminal case certain instructions which the District Attorney demanded. The only question was as to whether the instructions asked were or were not law. Not enough voters signed the petition to secure the submission to the voters of the recall. If enough had signed it the thousands of voters, not one in 500 of whom had ever looked into a law book, would have decided a complicated question of law.

In favor of reversal of court decisions by popular vote the only argument is that the people are to be trusted. So they are when they know what they are passing upon. But you would not trust a jury of locomotive engineers with a decision as to what remedy should be administered in a case of cerebro spinal meningitis, or trust a jury of doctors to pass upon the dynamic force of a waterfall.

And it has sometimes happened in both ancient and modern days that the people were not always to be trusted. Pontius Pilate as a judge decided that there was no fault in Jesus of Nazareth. Then, as a politician, he submitted the case to the people and they reversed his decision.

Where the Bulletins Were Thickest.

ple and they reversed his decision and cried, "Give us Barabbas."

The question of submitting court decisions to a popular vote is not an abstract one. It is pending in California. The Progressives have placed it in their platform. Their legislative candidates will be pledged to vote for the submission of a constitutional amendment providing for it. It is a matter for the voters of all parties to consider.

UNION BREECHEES ONLY.

Texas offers but a barren field for farmers. The sons of the Alamo are irresponsible to the lure of the "get-rich-quick" operator, and a three-card monte operator would stand an excellent chance of having his foreigner chopped off in "Hustin" or "San Antonio."

A short time ago there was a convention of the Texas Farmers' Union held at Fort Worth. After cotton, corn and cabbage had been discussed, a delegate of the Garment-makers' Union was accorded the privilege of addressing the convention. In flamboyant phrase he urged the farmers to stand by the interests of laboring men by purchasing only clothing that bore the label of the United Garment Workers.

A long-whiskered agriculturist arose to a parliamentary inquiry. He assured the convention that his wife did not wear the breeches, yet she had indulged for years in the practice of making them. He wanted to know whether, if the convention passed the resolution to have its members wear no unstamped garments, it would be up to him to strip himself of his comfortable pantaloons and either clothe himself with union-made ones or scud around his house under bare paps.

It was suggested to him that the difficulty could be met by his wife joining the Garment-makers' Union. He inquired what would be the cost of membership. The answer was that $25 down and $1 per week was the amount needed to properly equip and support the walking delegate of the union. The ancient agriculturist said that $77—the amount of the initiation fee and one year's dues—would absorb the revenue derived from four fat hogs, or 150 bushels of corn, or a bale of cotton, or that it would purchase the raw material for twenty-five pair of breeches which would last him for fifty years.

Thereupon the convention voted down the resolution, and the representative of the Garment-makers' Union retired in an unpleasant frame of mind.

A DEMOCRATIC SMASH.

Whether the Panama tolls repeal bill shall become a law or not, the Democratic party will go—in fact has already gone—to smash upon it. In the beginning of the second year of its reincarnation the Democratic infant has gone into its little grave, slain with an overdose of Woodrow Wilson.

The President is his murderer, and it is murder in the first degree, for the statute says that "murder committed by means of poison, lying in wait, or any other kind of willful, deliberate and premeditated killing is murder in the first degree."

The President has proceeded in brazen defiance of the popular will. From all over the land, from New Orleans to Boston and from Seattle to San Pedro, Chambers of Commerce and mass meetings in twenty-two Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific seaboard States have protested against the repeal bill.

The national Democratic platform is against it, the patriotism and pride of the land is against it, the commercial and maritime interests of the country are against it, and only the President, the transcontinental railroads and their newspaper organs and the Congressmen and Senators who, in the presence of the autocrat of the White House and the railroad lobby.

Congress. It is probable that the majority of the new Congress in favor of restoring free tolls—if the present law should be repealed will be large enough to override any veto that President Wilson might interpose, and, if not, it would be but to wait two years more, for Wilson himself has no possible chance of re-election.

There will be not only but only contempt for any California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada or Arizona Congressman or Senator, of whatever politics, who shall prove so disloyal to his constituents as to vote for the repeal. He will be bounced out of his seat with certainty and celerity.

THE "HOUND OF HEAVEN."

Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad. Woodrow Wilson is marked for destruction. He has been afflicted with a spring madness to see the United States of America a lick-spittle dependency of George V of England. Why the gods have thus afflicted Woodrow we know not. We were never informed why the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart and so brought the plagues on Egypt. Such things have been since the beginning of the world.

The hound of heaven is on the track of the crippled Democratic donkey. As the public hoo roots out the weeds sown by the hand of the hostile Roosevelt over our fair public domain, the flowers of friendly Republicanism are springing up everywhere in the fresh-turned soil. The thistle-eating donkey will soon find no thistles left; the people will drive him away from the freshly-seeded soil of returning prosperity. Behind the hound of heaven is the greatest political party in the history of any nation.

THE LADY'S MAN.

WALT MASON IN THE TIMES

Young Jinkson loves the tribes of girls, and after them keeps running; and all the Beryls, Maes and Pearls just think he is too cunning. He warbles love songs to their bowers, and he's a peach, they reason; he hands them costly wreaths of flowers, and oysters in their season. The maidens say, "He's sweet, ods fish!" And he, cheered by their kidding, anticipates their slightest wish, and hastes to do their bidding. Bright smiles are always on his face, when he's among the ladies, but when he's at the old home place he looks as sour as shades. His sister's an enchanting maid—few smiles he ever gave her; and when he's round she is afraid to ask the smallest favor. And with this girl he's eye at war—he never loved or kissed her; he saves his sweet expressions for some other fellow's sister. His mother's old and worn and sad, and if she murmurs, "Charlie, I wish you'd help me here, my lad," he looks up, cross and snarly. "Let sister help you," he replies. What taken out Clark was completely unconscious, but Bryan could still speak. The ruling passion was strong, even in the approximation of death. When he had partially recovered he asked that a collection be taken up to pay for the remarks he had inadvertently made. When Speaker Clark became conscious he begged piteously to be restored to his comrades, who had already been taken to the hospital. "Let me get at him," he whispered tenderly to the physician, and the plegmatic surgeon moved to tears by his pleading. It is feared that both will fully recover.

POLITICS IN JAPAN.

[Japanese Magazine:] The Selyu-kai (literally, the Political Friends Association) was organized and led by the late Prince Ito, and is the largest party in Japan. It has a workable majority in the House of Representatives and is the party now in power.

The Rikken Dosh-kai (literally, Constitutional Friends Association) was organized by the late Prince Katsura last spring. It is already a strong factor in Japanese politics.

The Kokuminto (Nationalist party) is another political party in Japan, once led by Count Okuma.

The Selyu Club is a party composed principally of those members who have bolted from the Selyu-kai. Its slogan is "Down with clan rule."

The Yuraku-kai is a political association of the independents.

The Jiyuto, or Liberal party, the first party ever organized in Japan and led by Count Itagaki, was ultimately absorbed by the Selyu-kai, when Prince Ito formed it.

The Shimp-to, or Progressive party, organized in 1881 and led by Count Okuma, has ever since played the chief role of the opposition. Today it forms the mainstay of the Kokuminto or Nationalist party.

The Rikken Dosh-kai was born when Prince Katsura saw necessity of organizing and leading a new political party.

The moving spirit of the Selyu Club is Y. Ozaki, former Mayor of Tokio.

APRIL FOOLISHNESS

BY EUGENE BROWN.

THE PIONEERS.

We capered blithely from rock to rock; Cavorting from tree to tree; We skipped o'er the sands on our flexible hands.

As happy as well might be.

I was not as fair as Endymion, When love first entered my brain, For I was a prehensible Simian, With an orange-outgunning queen.

We danced at the dawn of the ages, To the beat of the surf on the shore, And nobody cared if our ankles were bared—

It mattered not what we wore.

For she never yet had a chemise on, Whilst pajamas I never had seen— For I was a prehensible Simian, With an orange-outgunning queen.

In the Beginning.

The foolish season is with us when everything is fresh and green, including many of the careless populace. Now also the young folks' fancy lightly turns to thoughts of apparel. All this because the calendar breaks out with the leafy month of April. The bunch of specialists who built our year took the name from the Latin "aperio," or open—meaning that this was the open season for crazy people, spring poets and other wild animals. Also the buds are out, including the glittering galaxy of postmen's debuts. The month usually marks the dawn of Easter with the social lid raised and Asmodeus working on full time. Easter is the echo of the fashion show. The dull gray days of patience and penance are passed and there is a return to the fleshpots of indulgence.

On the first day of April mischief was wont to break all restraint. It was on this day that the old-time printer man would send the newest office-decl to the composing room of the estimable contemporary with a wheelbarrow to borrow a nonpareil quad. Sometimes the boy would return wheeling a ninety-pound sheet anchor and then we would wonder who the laugh was on. Most anything could happen in April and for that reason everybody carried an umbrella and an accident policy.

Hint from Paris.

Behold how marvelous is Marie's new beehive from overseas. It seems as if the milliners must rob the madhouses of their wildest patients to secure designers of the headpieces of those who are in fashion's thrall. Nevertheless a clever woman can take a helmet, a few wisps of hay, a handful of cranberries, a feather duster, a quart of cabbage leaves, a piece of red string and a suspender buckle and evolve a creation that would measure up creditably alongside that $187 dream from Paris.

There was never anything prettier in the world than the girl with the white shirwaist, blue tie, sailor hat and tan shoes, but we never expect to see her again. There was too much of comfort, neatness and economy about her to endure. It was hard to spend more than $20 on such a uniform, and thus arrayed the shopgirl looked just as sweet and swager as Flora McFlimsey. It was all like a beautiful dream. It was too good to last. The purse-breakers of Paris got their heads together and created things bizarre rather than beautiful. There is no such word as simplicity in the dictionary of fashion. What we are now getting from France turns men's heads and dreams. It is too good to last. The purse-breakers of Paris got their heads together and created things bizarre rather than beautiful. which brought out much applause and answer to repeated plaudits. The piano gave as an encore the "Theater of Spring."

Two choral songs of very interesting character formed a group of interest. They were both by F. Brueschweiler, who sang them.

The first is a melodious song of a seafaring poet who wrote of clearing and who wrote of the "Morning" of a new day.

The second is a song of a high appreciation in which the high East and in the West, Schumann's "Two German" spirited choral song, closed the concert of the night.

PART III

COAST LEAGUE BASEBALL SEASON OPENS TODAY.

The Opening Gun.

CHECH AND GEYER WILL MEET ON MOUND TODAY.

Devlin Makes Eleventh-Hour Switch in His Battery.

Angels Will Present a Line-up Apparently Much Stronger Than that of Last Year and Though Handicapped by the Absence of Bill Abstein Should Put Up a Great Battle for the Opening Game.

Los Angeles. Maggert, cf. Moore, 1b. Wallace, rf. Page, 2b. Ellis, lf. Johnson, ss. Metzger, 3b. Bole, c. Chech, p.

Eighteen ball players will assemble on the old Washington Park battlefield for the opening game of the 1914 Pacific Coast League season today. The attacking Oakland forces, under Gen. Devlin, arrived in town yesterday full of confidence and pep. They will rush the Angel trenches today with a vicious attack that is going to be hard to check.

Cap Dillon and his forces spent the entire night oiling up the old mits and taping the bat handles for the coming fray, and during the process remarking on how easy it was going to be. All yesterday afternoon the Angel players gathered around Charley Chech and gave the final words of advice. Charley has been selected to do the heaving, and from all indications he can do that little stunt better than a senile actor.

Devlin has named Jack Geyer as the man to stop the Angels today, and even Jack admits he has some job. The classy Oakland twirler has his good right paw in great form this spring, and Devlin figures the Seraphs will have to go some to beat him.

"Rube" Gardner will cover first instead of Neas, as the latter has a pair of bad legs.

THE PARADE.

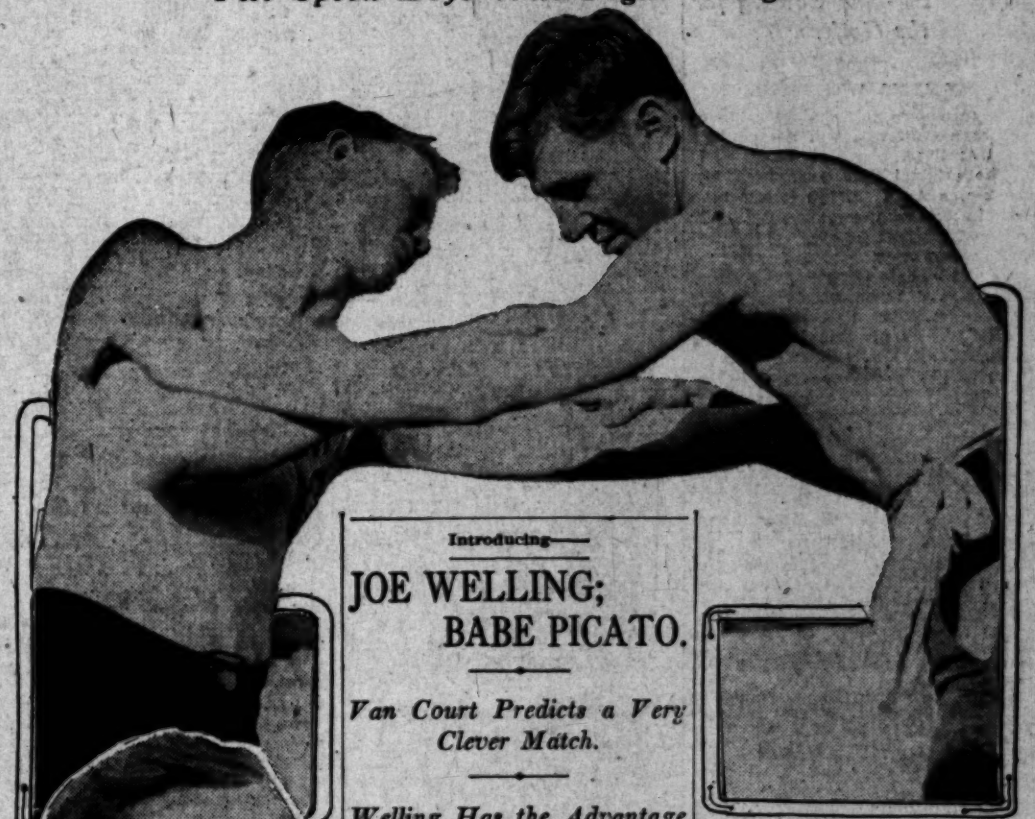

The old opening stuff will prevail as usual, with the big parade and a lot of preliminary doings at the ball park. The parade will start from the City Hall at 1 o'clock. Henry Berry and Tom Darmody will lead the parade, while all the players will follow all lit up with new uniforms, sweaters and other articles of warfare. Upon reaching the park Mayor H. H. Rose will pitch the first ball, with Mayor Holbrook of Venice behind the bat. After Mayor Rose twists the first ball over the plate the regular game will begin and with it another great Coast League season.

The Angels lay claim to the pennant this year, and one way of getting it is by grabbing the first game. The absence of Bill Abstein at first will be felt, but Moore is a fast, hard-hitting player, well able to fill the gap. Page looms up well at second, while Ernie Johnson assembles a net at short. Metzger is to third base what Walter Johnson is to pitching—a genius at the art. He goes third-basing all over the lot and is a wonderful player on the defense. Metzger's big falling has always been with the war club, but even there he has improved this year.

When speaking of outfields it is hard to get to the Angel trio. Three fast, hard-hitting men, daring baserunners, pinch hitters with long-distance kicks in their bats and a stone wall on the

Two Speed Boys Who Fight Tonight.

Introducing—
JOE WELLING; BABE PICATO.

Van Court Predicts a Very Clever Match.

Welling Has the Advantage of Reach.

Picato on the Short End of the Betting.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

Tonight's twenty-round contest between Joe Welling and Babe Picato looks like one of the most even and well-balanced matches that has taken place here in a long time. From their clever work seen here lately and the good work they have been doing in their training it should be up to a championship affair. Both boys are very clever boxers and good hitters. Each is cool and heady and fast on his feet.

Welling has the physical advantage in height, reach, and appears to be the better hitter of the two. There is little to choose in the speed, still the advantage in reach counts for a lot when used by a straight hitter. He stands straight up to his work and this adds to the advantage.

Each boxer has a good right, for both guarding, blocking and body punching, and each uses it cleverly for cross-countering. From observation it looks very much like a straight left-hand jabbing match, with the advantage to the one who can better avoid such blows.

On fighting there is also little to the advantage of either boy, both are fast and good at this style of work, although Welling appears to have the more strength in his arms.

Picato has a beautiful uppercut with his right hand, but will have little opportunity to use it on any boxer who carries himself standing as straight as Joe. When he met Ketchel that blow was his principal stock in trade, but Ketchel carried himself in more or less of a crouching position, which made it much easier to land uppercuts.

In Welling's ten-round contest with Charlie Dalton he proved he was strong and could stand a lot of rough work. He also showed good judgment and head work at that time.

In experience, which is always a big help, Picato has a decided advantage. He has the advantage of traveling over the twenty-round limit and Joe has not. From the past records of the two boys, it is admitted that Babe has met more and tougher boxers than Welling.

The fact that Welling is the favorite in the betting is probably due to a lot to the matches he and Picato had with Dalton. While it may not be true, Babe appeared more tired at the end of his ten-round contest with Dalton than Welling did. So it seems a hard match to pick, and taken from any angle, it should prove as high-class as any lightweight contest that could be arranged.

The ten-round preliminary between Charlie Dalton and Steve Ketchel promises to be the direct opposite of that between Picato and Welling. Both are dead game and each will be too proud to back up. They have trained faithfully and are in good condition.

Poor Record.

SMITH, VENICE PURCHASE, HASN'T SHOWED UP WELL.

VENICE added another heaver to their ranks yesterday, when they purchased one Clarence Smith from the White Sox.

Smith has not showed very well in the practice games played with the Coast League teams, but the former Sox twirler may be slow in hitting his stride this season.

He worked twenty and one-third innings against the Coast League club, and was hit safely thirty-three times for eighteen runs, or nearly a run per inning, which is not air-tight pitching. His last game was a nine-inning performance against the Modesto Reds, when he held them to four hits and one run. If this is a sample of his regular work he will be a welcomed man on the Hogan heavy-hitting corps.

Smith went to the Sox from Birmingham last spring. His work was good enough to keep him on the Sox payroll during the entire season, although he had little chance to work with Red Russell and Jim Scott working every other day.

Not Very New.

BUDDY RYAN ONLY NEW BEAVER TO PLAY TODAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, March 30.—"Play ball." Welcome words to the fans of the Wolves and the big Dutchman in the best condition of his career and harboring an overgrown desire to work against McCredie's club and especially against his old rival, Irvie Higginbotham. Higginbotham is McCredie's choice for opening-day pitcher, but in case that anything should happen to make Cap Wollerton change his choice, McCredie will send Hi West to the mound and send Higginbotham to work against Klawitter. But there is little likelihood of either manager changing and Klawitter and Higginbotham are practically sure of being the opposing pitchers.

The first ball. Johnson will pitch the first ball of the game, but otherwise there will be nothing in the line of formality connected with opening day. There will be a band to parade the downtown streets in a tallboy and to play at the grounds for ten or fifteen minutes before the game, while the pestiferous camera men tax the patience of players and fans. The line-up follows:

Portland. Rhinn, rf. Young, ss. Forrester, 3b. Tennant, 1b. Moran, cf. Schwaier, lf. Hallinan, 2b. Derrick, 3b. Fisher, c. Higginbotham, p.

CHANGES ORDER.

Walter McCredie, manager of the Beavers, has made an eleventh-hour shift in his batting order. Doane has been shifted up the list to the position of lead-off man, First Baseman Derrick being dropped to seventh place. Bill Speas will not be in tomorrow's line-up, but McCredie is anxious to make room for him and probably will work him into the game before the coming series is over. Speas has been slow in finding his batting eye during the spring—hence his

OAKS HAVE SOME TEAM.

OAKLAND BASEBALL WRITER SAYS SO.

Devlin Has Material Good Enough to Capture the Pennant With Any Kind of Back-Up Field Is Especially Fast—Catcher Alexander Looks Like a Real Find.

BY L. B. GROSS.

War Correspondent With the Oakland Baseball Team.

Sundown will see the Pacific Coast League season opened, and it should be some season at that, for the league is stronger this year than it ever was before.

The Venice Club will open at San Francisco, the Portland squad awaits the cry of "Play ball" at Sacramento, while twenty-six members of the Oakland club, headed by Manager "Art" Devlin and Secretary Jack Cook, are here in Los Angeles waiting to start the ball rolling this afternoon against Ben Berry's pride.

The Oakland team this year is much improved over that of last season, and while Manager Devlin is not claiming any pennant, the Oaks will have to be reckoned with before any of the other clubs walk away with the much-sought-after flag.

MUCH MATERIAL.

The fans of Los Angeles will find that the Oaks have plenty of material for a first-division club, and, barring any injuries or other misfortunes, they are quite likely to prove the surprise of the league. Much credit must be given to Trainer William "Doc" Morris, who has whipped the squad into perfect trim, barring Jack Neas, who has a Charley-horse. Pitcher Pruitt has a slight attack of tonsillitis, and Elmer Zacher, who is suffering from a heavy cold.

The fans will see a much-improved outfield when Kaylor, Middleton and Quinan trot out upon the field. The last-named duo are both very fast on the bags, as well as being extra handy with the stick, while they have demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of

As Usual.

HOGAN PREDICTS THAT HE'LL SMEAR HOWARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—All that remains to insure an auspicious opening of the Pacific Coast League fifteenth annual pennant race in San Francisco tomorrow is for the weather man to behave. The Seals and the Tigers are on the ground, trained to the minute and ready to go to the post, a banner crowd is assured, and, in fact, everything is in readiness to usher in the seven months of baseball with the bugaboo in store that it might rain.

The players of the rival teams were forced to stick in the clubhouse to the steady downpour in the afternoon, and indications are such that there may be a similar experience tomorrow. Precautions, such as laying the canvas covering over the diamond, were taken to keep the grounds in shape, and announcement has been made that a couple of hours' sunshine tomorrow morning will fit up everything to receive the baseballers.

THE PROGRAMME.

All arrangements have been perfected for the opening ceremonies.

which are the same as usual. The auto parade, in which about fifty machines will be in line, will leave the grounds at 12:30 p.m. and will whisk about the streets for an hour and a half. At 3 o'clock the game is scheduled to commence and Mayor Rolph will be on hand to twirl the first ball. All the reserved seats with the exception of a hundred or so have been sold out, and it looks like there will be a capacity house of about 15,000. Managers Del Howard and Happy Hogan met today, shook hands and each confidently told the other that a beating is in store. Both have practically decided on the make-up of the team that will carry their faith and hope into the opener. There are no eleventh-hour switches. Howard is still undecided about center field, with his choice lying between Joe Tobin and Chappie Charles, but otherwise Cartwright will be on first base and the line-up will be the same which completed so successfully against the Chicago White Sox.

LIKE HOME FOR AL JOLSON.

The Boy Wonder Gets a Rousing Send-off.

Whole Show Full of Dashing Stunts and Scenes.

Al and the Girls Really Make the Show.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

Al Jolson had to think twice and walk around the stage two or three times last night before he was sure he was not back on Broadway.

Honest, if ever a man got a reception it was this same Al who made himself a favorite when he was out here last summer on that vacation of his.

And the longer the show progressed, the better the folks liked Al, and the better Al liked the house.

So did Joe Montrose, for it was one of those S.R.O. houses that back in all the first-nighters and Broadwayites and make it easy for the paragon like yours truly.

Everything went off without a hitch, the only confusion I encountered being when I ran into Jess Dandy and that mammoth limousine of Ed Doherty's. Honest, you couldn't tell which was Jess and which was the gasoline mastodon.

Adolph Phillip was there too, getting costume pointers from Melville Ellis, and Ollie Morosco, over in the box, was taking notes on talent. I believe he is planning to steal Jolson.

And the show? Well, it was just about what they claimed for it in advance—a real Broadway melange of song and dance with the brothers putting it all over the gamut, and the comedians doing likewise to the comedians.

It was a decided shock to me to see Ada Lewis doing a straight part, and quite disappointing, though she did well what she had to do. Also Ellis's pianola was much more elaborate than I thought it was going to be.

However, if Ellis is the chap who designed all these gowns, especially those striped things the little girls wear in the opening number, he is to be forgiven for going on the stage and letting the audience get a peek at him.

Somewhere else there is a regular review of "The Honey Moon Express," but just the same, I slipped it over on the reviewers by sticking till the last run was fired and so witnessed the "get-away" glide which winds up the show.

You ought to see it. Honest, those of you who saw it last night will agree with me when I rise to remark that it would be simply horrible if some more money were spent to play the wrong part of the line in that serpentine hesitation. Of course, Al gets a chance, way at the end of the line, but my goodness how conspicuous.

There is a little of everything in the show that pertains to musical comedy and some that doesn't. For example that scene in which the auto races the Honey Moon Express. It starts with a laugh and ends in amazement for it is as realistic as anything done recently in the big scenic drama, and that is going some.

When it gets down to songs, why there is plenty to please. Some old ones, which, by the way, were first introduced by Jolson, but have been heard here before, and some that are really new.

Which brings to mind a funny little trait in human nature. I refer to the singing of "The Rosary" by Jolson.

It really is amazing, that with his black face, and his white hands, the scorpion streaming down his face, his eyes rough, and convulsed, that Jolson can hold the crowd as he does, and bring them from the ridiculous to the sublime in a moment. Yes, it is well done, and a great thing for Jolson to be able to do.

But why? Why is it that the tragedian wants to be a comedian, and the melodramatic queen yearns to play Shakespeare? They are all that way and sometimes they are right about it, as was the case with Dave Ward, who at one time was a comedian with Webber & Fields.

I suppose many will criticize Jolson for the seeming sacrilege, but those who do so will misjudge him. It is a fact that he takes more pride in that little minute of serious endeavor than in anything else he does.

It is about the time that Al is singing this that he gets in his heavy work as an individual entertainer. It is here that his unique personality counts, for he is one of the few who can come to the footlights, take the audience into his confidence and not be crude about it.

I am not sure which of the songs I liked best, but the one that seemed to make the big hit, that is, of the Jolson songs, was the one about Mrs. Rip Van Winkle and the rest. Evidently Washington Irving forgot all about the cost of living when he wrote that story of the Catskills.

All through the show runs that little "Honey Moon Express" song, which most of us have heard many, many times but which still remains a disagree and whose stepping makes ample amends.

The girls make the show, aside from Jolson, and this is eminently proper in musical comedy, but evidently everyone knew this in advance, for when I looked at the ticket rack I couldn't find but eight seats left for all week in the bald-headed row.

Oaks Have Some Team. Hogan Says He'll Win.

Devlin that they can field any amount of territory in great style.

"Kid," Kaylor, who counted out many a hit in the exhibition series with the White Sox, will give a chance to repeat in the regular games, and if he can pull the trick, I do not see how they can keep the little fellow out of the game. Elmer Zacher is not at his best at the present time, but almost certain to stick on the team, while Bert Coy is slated for the bench.

Ness, the Oaks' mainstay around the practice games, but Devlin has been a charley-horse, and Rube Gardner, who appears to be in great form, should be seen in most of the games this year.

SPEED MERCHANT. Although the fastest man on the club, and perhaps the fastest base runner in the league, he did not show up as well as he might have with regard to fielding his position during the practice games, but Devlin has faith in him, and will give Murphy every chance possible to make good.

Devlin has decided to manage the team from the bench, that is, for awhile at any rate, which makes room for "Honk-Honk" Gus Helling. Helling's legs troubled him early in the season, but Gus is now in tip-top shape.

The catching department should be safe in the hands of former Manager Mitz, Alexander and Arbogast. Mitz should play up to his old-time form, while the writer is of the opinion that Alexander will prove to be one of the sweetest catchers in the league before many months have past.

A REAL BEAR. I do not make this statement with the hope of getting into the "I told you so" class if such should prove true, but from my own observations, in addition to having a classy style of pitching to second, he has a batting eye that is above par.

The twirlers to whom Devlin looks for the most help during the early part of the season are Killian, who looks to have the edge on them all; Big Barrenkamp, the right-hander from the Central Association, who should annex many games for the Oaks; Jack Quinn, a left-hander and Christian and Prough, who was purchased from the White Sox.

These six twirlers should show to advantage against the Angels this week, while the rest of the heavens, Loomis, Ramsey, Kesselring and Pruitt, are not yet in form.

Manager Devlin has done much for the club. After he took hold last year the team won more games than they lost. This was due largely to the vigorous leadership, and that same leadership will be given to them this season.

DAVENPORT WINS MATCH. Arthur Davenport last night scored his second match against James Morley by taking the second round of the last series on the scores of 55 to 44, with totals for the match of 166 to 94. Morley having secured the first round by 50 points to Davenport's 45, the latter was obliged to record fifty-five last evening against Morley's quota of fifty. He proved equal to the task, leading from the start, and making one run of five.

Morley was not up to his usual form, having been ill last week, but though he could make only three for a high run, he managed to make a fairly close match of the session. Ninety-eight innings were required for the block of fifty-five.

Of three exhibitions contested by the two experts, Davenport has won two and Morley one. Davenport starts East in a few days, expecting to repeat his visit about six months hence.

HEN BERRY SAYS MINORS WON'T FIGHT THE MAJORS.

SUNDAY NIGHT the wires shot forth a wonderful tale of a new and better organization of the minor leagues. The minor leagues were to sever all connections with the majors. The old draft, reserve clause and national commission were to be forgotten. The minors would grab all the big league stars by competing with the majors on a salary basis. If the majors wanted a minor league star they would have to buy him outright or else offer him a higher salary and cause him to jump.

"Pooh, pooh," said Hen Berry yesterday when interviewed on the proposed organization.

"The minor league baseball situation is the best we have had in years," continued Berry. "It would be absolutely absurd for the minors to fight with the majors. As far as the Coast League is concerned I am sure this movement is without favor. It would be about the most foolish move the minors could make and I doubt if the rumor has any foundation."

A Bargain. The sale was conducted by A. Greenwald, auctioneer, for Frank E. Smith, receiver. The inventory of the plant was slightly over $94,000. The sale was for cash with $30,000 deposited at the time of the sale and the remainder to be paid in ten days. The sale was to be passed on by the Federal court, and may, if it chooses, reject the bid made by Winteritz. There were nearly twenty prospective purchasers at the sale, but only one besides the successful bidder was able to approach the final price.

The Speed King. The Indianapolis event, which was the last of the season, was held at the Indianapolis Speedway on Sunday, April 5th. The race was won by Harry C. Stutz, president of the Indianapolis concern, who was in Los Angeles for the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix races. Oldfield was first and second in the race.

OLDFIELD TO DRIVE STUTZ IN INDIANAPOLIS EVENT. The Indianapolis event, which was the last of the season, was held at the Indianapolis Speedway on Sunday, April 5th. The race was won by Harry C. BARNEY OLDFIELD is to drive a Stutz car in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis, Memorial Day. The deal was closed yesterday morning, when Barney Oldfield, who is now in Los Angeles, made the announcement that three Stutz cars would appear on the Indianapolis Speedway in the coming race.

While Harry C. Stutz, president of the Indianapolis concern, was in Los Angeles for the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix races, Oldfield was first and second in the race.

NEW FIRE TRUCK IS GIVEN A TRIAL. Ten fire chiefs from Southern California cities attended the official test of the second combination chemical and hose wagon built by the Moreland motor truck factory for the city of Los Angeles yesterday.

The test consisted of hill climbing, speed trials and an efficiency run of thirty miles.

After the demonstration the fire chiefs were entertained at a luncheon given by Wat Moreland and Will R. Forker, sales manager for the local factory, at Harbor View. After the dinner the party inspected the Moreland factory, where the Los Angeles horse-drawn fire equipment is being motorized.

Among the guests were: W. C. Young, Santa Ana chief; J. M. Clever of Fullerton; G. E. Cook of Anaheim; and the chiefs from Long Beach, Whittier, Riverside and Redlands.

COBERLY BEATS COE. Coberly won his first game in the Brunswick amateur three-cushion game last night by defeating Coe, the scores being 35 to 30. Both men were rated at thirty-five. The game was played at the club, which Coberly made one run of four, while Coe's best was two.

Killian and Coberly are matched for tonight on even terms of thirty-five. Coe has but one more chance to score a win before the schedule closes.

BEANEATERS WIN. MAISON (Ga.) March 30.—The Boston National League club today defeated the Atlanta Southern Association club, 1 to 0. The run was scored in the fourth when Deal, third baseman, doubled and Coberly, who was on another two-base hit by Gowdy, the score.

CURS CONQUERORS. EVANSVILLE (Ind.) March 30.—The Chicago National League club shut out the Evansville Central League team, 10 to 0, today. The score: Chicago, 10; hits, 9; errors, 2. Evansville, 0; hits, 4; errors, 2. Batteries—Zabel and Hartgrave; Fromholtz, Secker and Hauser.

BOXERS HISSIED. ST. LOUIS, March 30.—Jack Britton of Chicago won from Leo Kelly, a St. Louis lightweight, after eight rounds of tame boxing here tonight. When the boxers stopped, the ring after the bout they were hissed.

SUNDAY, APRIL 5th

The issue of April 5th is unusual in its scope and variety—FICTION—SCIENCE—SPECIAL ARTICLES—POETRY, etc. Here are some of the offerings of this high-class, educating and entertaining magazine.

Good Times and the Business Ducky

By Judge Elbert H. Gary
Chairman of the Board of Directors
United States Steel Corporation

Our editorial page has become standard. It is devoted to sane views of important questions handled by the most prominent authorities. Judge Gary, whose fingers are continually on the pulse of our nation, is perhaps better equipped than any other man to speak on matters of vital importance. He tells why our business prosperity is so frequently and seriously interrupted—why, with our great and growing wealth, our resources and superior advantages, we are not more continuously prosperous—and more WHY'S.

The Great Serial the Prince of Graustark

By George Barr McCutcheon
Illustrated by R. F. Schabelitz

The preceding installments were highly amusing, but they were only preliminaries. The real fun commences in the installment to be published in this issue. The undaunted and self-satisfied Blithers is literally shaking hands with himself. He has thrown out a gilded net and to him Prince Robin of Graustark is as good as landed. He plans a wonderful ball in honor of the Prince, the novel feature of the evening to be a sparring match between two famous prize fighters.

Everything is ermine and velvet in his mind—when the unlocked-for blow falls. Maud, his pride and joy, rebels and flatly refuses to meet the Prince. A "stunning" situation to the Blithers family. It leaves you impatient for the next installment.

The Invitation of the Sea

By Marguerite O. B. Wilkinson
Here might be the answer to "What Are the Sea Waves Saying?" An invitation to partake of its strength-giving, evil-denying, bracing gifts; an invitation for the weary toiler, for the pompous rich, for the old, for lovers, for little children. Its inspiring message is like an invigorating dip in the sea.

Occult Phenomena and Common Sense

By H. Addington Bruce
Illustrated by H. L. Drucklieb

Whether or not we believe in occultism, the weird and uncanny subject is always fascinating. We learn here that physical research has been useful to medical science, that hypnotism, crystal gazing, etc., have their value in bringing back health to victims of nervous breakdowns. Some things are also explained away that many of us have puzzled and wondered over.

The Troubles of Two Working Girls

By Helen Van Campen
Illustrations by Horace Taylor

There is nothing "high-brow" about this story. It's a mixture of slang and chorus-girl sauciness, but the result is so droll and entertaining that we indorse it as a chaser of the "blues."

Confessions of a Washington Lobbyist

Lo, the Poor Indian!

When a reverend doctor, a prominent millionaire financier and others of unscrupulous character form an association for the mental and spiritual uplift of the North American Indian, every applicant. No one thinks of looking for an Ethiopian in the woodpile, unless it be a clever lobbyist. Even the President has the wool drawn over his eyes. This Washington lobbyist is so sharp that his find, in the form of an innocent-looking bill about to be passed by Congress, places the association completely under his thumb. The slice he receives to keep his tongue in his cheek enables him to retire from the work of lobbying.

WAR AGAINST
DRESS FREAKS.Minister's Widow Launches

for Modest Attire.Staid Educator Crawls from Under Wrecked Car.

(LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.)
PASADENA, March 31.—Mrs. George H. Ide of No. 1015 Galena street, widow of the late pastor of the Grand-avenue Congregational Church of Chicago, and who has been a resident of Pasadena for the last two years, at a meeting of the Women's Union of the First Presbyterian Church yesterday appealed to her fellow members to instigate a systematic campaign against what she terms the "immoderate, immodest and immoral styles of women's dress of the day. She is a Biblical and Shakespearean student, and is well known.

She did not contend that Pasadena is any worse off in this regard than other cities and towns of the country, but declared that the Crown City should start the movement and that California should be freed of such an imputation before the eyes of the world. She turned this way at the time of the exposition at San Francisco in 1915.

"There has been enough talk about this," she said, "it is time something was done. What we want is practical suggestions. The extreme styles now prevalent are having an immoral effect on the young women and the girls. And they are not so much to blame as the older women. The girls are coming under this influence unconsciously. Shall freaks in fashion lead the sensible women in California down to ruin and disgrace, or shall they rise in the might and cast the foolish fads and tangles aside? It is high time that the church and club women should create a public opinion that shall free the Golden State.

"The remedy I have to suggest is that a campaign against 'immoral dress' be launched at once. It should be made in an organized manner. The women's clubs and the missionary societies of the city should start the movement. The State Federation of Women's Clubs should be induced to take the matter up and the campaign should be a Statewide one.

"This fight should not be carried on with all the noise of a wet and dry campaign, but it should progress quietly. There should be personal canvasses made and every woman in the State should be asked to join in the movement for a sane and modest dress by 1915. The eyes of the world are now upon the women of California. We have equal suffrage with the men and many when they come to California in 1915, will be particularly curious to see what we are like."

FOUR UNDER ONE CAR.

George A. Damon, dean of Throop College of Technology, Prof. C. T. Judy, Vene Elliott and Jesse Dumond, the last two students, are contemplating themselves on a narrow escape which they had on the road between Pasadena and Pomona, and from which they emerged whole, but not without a fright.

An automobile in which they were riding at a curve in the road skidded, turned completely over and pinned the four of them down under it. A piece of steel splintered off and went through Damon's forehead, pinning him fast to the ground with that as well.

Each for a moment thought the others had been killed. Finally they found that, thanks to a number of cushions that were in the car and the softness of the ground, together with the manner in which the car had come down over them, that not any one was hurt. With their united strength they succeeded in lifting the car far enough to crawl out from under it. The car itself is slightly damaged, and the two professors and two students were kept busy yesterday relating their experiences to their friends.

CONDITION IS SERIOUS.

The condition of J. W. Pitzer, who was struck by an automobile driven by Ralph Waters, a young man, late last Saturday night, and who is now at the Marengo-avenue Hospital, last night was reported to be very serious. His recovery is doubtful.

W. T. Waters, the father of the boy, is greatly shocked over the accident, but said yesterday it had been unavoidable and that his son had done all he could do under the circumstances, in taking the injured man to the hospital. He said that the youth yesterday had been home later that night he was arrested for speeding and that it was because of this nervous condition, resulting from the accident, that he was unable to control the car and it had thus got to running faster than he intended it should. The car is a very heavy one.

CITY BRIEFS.

E. C. Fish, who was mangled between the elevator and the main floor of the Model Grocery Company's store, where he was employed, last Saturday afternoon, died of his injuries yesterday.

The wives of members of the New Century Club have organized a club of their own. No name has yet been adopted. The women will meet once a month and discuss topics of timely interest.

The funeral of Harrison T. Kendall, who died at Long Beach last Friday, was held yesterday in Mountain View cemetery, where he was located when a young man brought him wealth, but not until after he had passed his fortieth milestone in life.

SAN DIEGO, March 30.—W. G.

Heikler, a real estate promoter, who was arrested by County Detective Mc-Dowell at the Marquette Hotel, charged with defrauding Mrs. Paul Browning of Los Angeles of $150,000, will be taken to Los Angeles for trial.

Heikler, it is alleged, secured money from Mrs. Browning during the past year and a half by sending glowing accounts of operations on valuable pieces of real estate in San Diego which were being subdivided for sale in the East.

It is alleged that nothing had been done by the promoter on the real estate scheme, but that he appropriated the money to his own use.

Members of the Second Presbyterian Church have received bids, and will soon let the contract, for a new and handsome church structure, to be erected on the lot owned by the congregation at the intersection of Eliot and Molino streets. Dr. Grant Evans, pastor of the church, announces that the structure will be 56x80 feet in size, with an auditorium 52x64 feet, seating 400 persons, and the seating capacity may be increased 250 with but little expense.

DRY CAMPING.

Former Gov. Malcolm R. Patterson of Tennessee addressed a large number of citizens tonight at the Forum, in the first of the "California Dry" mass meetings. His subject was "Why I Changed Front on the Liquor Question." He told how he was, not only personally enthralled with John Barleycorn, but his administration was at one time necessarily favorable to the liquor when in his State. He broke away from his thralldom, and is now impressing his audiences with his views of the danger of strong drink.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.
Councilman Conwell announced yesterday that he has received assurance from the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation that it will bid on supplying 500 additional street lights if an eighteen-month contract is offered. Conwell will ask the Council to act at once.

The Council yesterday officially endorsed the proposed "clean-up week" arranged for by various civic organizations.

For love of his baby the youngest husband deserted from the army, which fact was made public during a divorce suit before Judge Monroe yesterday. The baby will be taken into court this morning so that the father may see it.

The Canfield estate was partially distributed yesterday.

PROSPECT FOR MORE LIGHTS.

CONWELL PROPOSES EIGHTEEN MONTHS' CONTRACT.

Will Ask City Council to Advise for Bids for Five Hundred Additional Street Lamps and Is Assured of Offer of Service from Power Companies.

After doing without any additional street lights since December of 1912, the city is in a fair way of securing 500 additional lamps for this purpose. This will be good news to many suburban sections of the city that have been crying for many months for street lighting.

Councilman Conwell is responsible for the new movement. He has taken up negotiations with the power companies, and has received assurance that if bids are asked for on a contract for eighteen months the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation will make an offer on the same basis as that now received for the month to month lighting of streets—$3.50 per light per month.

Conwell broached his plan before the Finance Committee of the Council yesterday and declared that he would at once introduce a resolution in the Council providing for the advertisement for bids. The plan received the support of other members of the Finance Committee.

The city now has 2937 street lights in operation, the current being provided for on monthly contracts. There are 470 applications for new street lights, these being for districts in all parts of the city. The Budget Committee will be asked to make provision for 750 new lights during the next fiscal year.

The deadlock over lighting of streets has existed for many months. The power companies refused to bid on contracts for less than two years, while the city officials determined that they could not offer to close contracts for more than a year, as they hoped to be able to use the power before a two-years' period would elapse.

It is now conceded that should the proposed $3.50 per light power bond proposition carry it would be at least eighteen months before the city would be in a position to furnish adequate power for street lighting. The new movement is a compromise on both sides, and in all probability will be adopted by the Council. This will insure the installation of at least 500 new street lights within a comparatively short time.

Would Extend River Bank.

The Santa Fe Railroad officials are preparing to replace the banks of the Los Angeles River along the railroad right of way where the tracks were washed out during the recent storms. They have asked the Board of Public Works for permission to fill out to the established line of the river channel, conforming to the street grades on that line except where viaducts are used, and in the latter case conforming to the ground underneath. The subject has been referred to the City Engineer for his recommendation.

Indorses "Clean-Up Week."

The City Council yesterday adopted resolutions indorsing the efforts of various civic societies for a "clean-up week" starting on April 23 and extending to April 28. The resolutions urge each individual resident of Los Angeles to give their unqualified support to the movement.

Municipal News Notes.

The Finance Committee was notified yesterday that the new firehouse at Blanton and Bonello avenues will be placed in commission next Thursday.

The Finance Committee of the Council yesterday arranged to secure the services of Edwin Cobb, formerly a member of the Aqueduct Investigation Commission, for expert testimony in the suit against the city for infringement of a patent on water-wheel installation in Cottonwood Creek as a part of the aqueduct power project.

Six hundred and twenty-five dollars a month was recommended by the Finance Committee yesterday as an appropriation for the City Auditor for completing the audit of the books of the Aqueduct Bureau and pressing to a settlement claims for overcharges on freight bills for aqueduct materials. The City Auditor says that claims aggregating about $10,000 are to be settled and believes that much of this amount can be recovered by the city.

The Manchester and South Park Improvement Association, with a membership of more than 200, yesterday filed a petition to the City Council asking that police protection be given to the district lying between Eightieth and Eighty-fifth streets, Main street and South Park avenue. The charge is made that women and girls have been molested there in broad daylight and they are afraid to venture out after dark. Appeal was made to the Chief of Police, but the petitioners state he has declared that his force is insufficient to police the district mentioned.

Sixty-one property owners within the proposed boundaries of the assessment districts for the First-street and Second-street tunnels yesterday filed a protest against the tentative boundaries, declaring that this was an unjust discrimination against certain properties within the district.

YOUNG IN YEARS, OLD IN DEEDS.

ADORES HIS CHILD, BUT WIFE—AH, THERE'S THE RUB.

Lover, Elopee, Husband, Father, Soldier, Deserter and Party in Divorce Suit All Before He's Seventeen—Little Girl's Fond Embrace Changes Aspect of Marital Trouble.

There was nothing in the appearance of youthful Elmer A. James, defending a divorce suit before Judge Monroe yesterday, to indicate his checkered career. The story as it unfolded showed him in the light of the youngest bridegroom, and a deserter from the United States army for love of his child. It also brought to light a mad infatuation which resulted in a runaway marriage.

Elmer, when 14, met E. Blanche Rollins, eight years his senior. A year later they eloped to Santa Ana and then their real troubles began. Mrs. James said he was not only cruel, threatening her with a knife, but that he failed to support her. She took the baby and went to live with her mother.

In desperation Elmer enlisted in the army, giving his age as 22. Four months later he deserted. The admission that he deserted was forced from him by Judge Monroe from information contained in letters produced by Mrs. James and a photograph was also introduced, showing James in a soldier's uniform.

Attorney Bulluck sought to show that the young man was fondly attached to his 3-year-old son in contradiction of the statement of Mrs. James that he never cared for the baby.

"Do you think I am going to turn the baby over to a deserter?" Judge Monroe queried.

"No, Your Honor," replied the attorney, "but I want to show that he loves the boy and is willing to provide for him."

It was shown by the testimony of a friend that Mrs. James said she would not accept support from her husband and that he could not see the baby. This was followed by the evidence of James' mother, who had given him two stepdaughters.

"He had a mad infatuation for the girl," she said. "He seemed to be insane from love for his baby and his wife. He kissed the baby's picture every night and kept it under his pillow. I dreaded something like this, and to prevent a marriage had the boy placed on probation, only to learn that they were already married."

"Yes, I did say I would have the marriage annulled, but my boy's wife's mother gave them money to get out of town. She seemed persistent, as all of his wife's family, in the intention of having them married."

"Why didn't you have him sent away if you thought he was going to get married?" asked Judge Monroe.

"Well, I did all I could," was the reply. "It was so sudden."

It also transpired that after his wife left him James enlisted to Brown. He was a private in the 10th Cavalry, but the longing to see his boy overcame his discretion and he deserted. He wrote his wife he had left the army. She wrote back: "If you make me any trouble in my divorce in regard to seeing the baby, I will hand you over to the government. If you don't fight to see the baby, I won't say anything about you and the army."

Judge Monroe continued the case until this morning. He ordered Mrs. James to bring the baby into court. "I will let you see your boy once, anyhow," he said to the father.

FALLS ON HIS NECK.

CAUSES TEARS IN COURT.

A little girl's convulsive greeting of her father, whom she had not seen for a year, made eyes smart in Judge Jackson's court yesterday. She was the 4-year-old daughter of Thomas J. and Lily M. French, who figure in a divorce suit. Mrs. French alleges non-support.

The couple separated March 14, 1912. Mrs. French sending her daughter to board. French's left hand was crippled in a planing mill and because of the injury he is handicapped in earning a living.

The mother brought Bessie, the girl, into court yesterday, when French was ordered to appear to show cause why he should not pay for her support.

"Oh, papa," shrieked Bessie, darting from her mother to the lonely man. She grasped him around the neck, showering kisses. Mrs. French ran over to take her daughter away and was ordered by Judge Jackson to let her fondle her father.

"Take your seat, Mrs. French," he said. "Don't disturb the little girl." Tears welled from French's eyes and others in the courtroom blew their noses to hide their watery eyes. Finally the girl's grandmother gently restrained her and led her away, but there was no doubt of the love she had for French. He was ordered to pay $4 a week, with the privilege of seeing Bessie once a week. The mother was given custody of the child.

ALLEGES CONSPIRACY.

BANK SALE IN DOUBT.

A ruling by Judge Finlayson will bring to trial the suit of F. H. Johnson, a minority stockholder of the City and County Bank, against Irvine S. Metzler, Joseph Metzler, Charles A. Elder, the Bank of Italy and others to set aside the sale of the business and assets of the City and County Bank to the Bank of Italy and the recovery of approximately $148,000.

The complaint alleged a conspiracy on the part of the defendants to market their holdings in the City and County Bank. It was alleged that this conspiracy with the Bank of Italy consisted of selling 1846 shares at $150 a share and that the transfer to the Bank of Italy of the business and assets of the City and County Bank was fraudulent.

Judge Finlayson, in overruling the demurrer of the defendants, held that if the allegations in the complaint are true there was constructive fraud on the part of the defendants who had gone into the management of the board of directors to sell their stock at $150 a share to the Bank of Italy.

This interest would disqualify the defendant directors from voting on the sale, and if the allegations in the complaint are sustained, he held that the plaintiff is entitled to have the sale set aside. Hunsaker & Britt and J. H. Merriam represented the plaintiff.

part in the suit of Herbert Standing, an English actor, to recover damages of $5550 for an alleged breach of contract.

When the suit got under way Attorney Scarborough for Morosco pleaded the statute of fraud on the ground that the contract under which Standing was engaged was not in writing.

Attorney Schenck for Standing, pleaded estoppel, but the court held he was precluded because he had not pleaded estoppel in his complaint.

He was allowed ten days in which to file an amended complaint.

Standing bases his suit on a Supreme Court decision in the case of

Seymour against Celrich, covering practically the same points. He said he was engaged by Morosco in New York at a salary of $150 a week for the year. He played in this city ten weeks and was let out. Morosco alleges that Standing, a well-set-up elderly man, faltered in his lines.

This Standing denies. He was accompanied by his young and handsome wife.

Standing played with Henry Irving and starred abroad in the "Fortune and "Oliver Twist." He has been an actor for forty-seven years. For twenty-three years he managed Sir

CANFIELD ESTATE.

PARTIALLY DISTRIBUTED.

A partial distribution of the estate of C. A. Canfield, late oil magnate, was ordered in the Probate Court by Judge Rives yesterday on the petition of the executor, Eileen Canfield, to pay $100,000 to the executor, Eileen

Canfield, trustee for C. A. Canfield, the son, and the petition of the executors,

Jacob M. Danziger and Florence E.

Whitney.

The daughters of Canfield, Mrs.

Whitney, Caroline C. Spalding, Daisy

Whitney, and Eileen Canfield, receive $1,000,000 each. The request of Miss Dorothy Canfield, the adopted daughter, is $250,000, and the income from $500,000 will be paid to her, either in full or partially, at the discretion of the trustee. The petitioners were represented by Bradner W. Lee.

The estate was appraised at $5,000,000.

GIRLS PUNISHED.

ONE GOES TO WHITTIER.

"We did not have enough to eat and besides we had to work too hard," was the complaint of Olga Ruder, 18, and Elizabeth Agnes, 19, who escaped from the Home of the Good Shepherd last Thursday night and ran to Lawson in their nightgowns. This explanation of their escape was given to the court yesterday when the girls were brought before the juvenile court for a hearing.

Miss Agnes was committed to Whittier for one year, much to her noyance. She appears to be homeless. Miss Ruder, whose mother sent her to the Home of the Good Shepherd for a time, will be held at the Detention Home until her case can be further considered.

GETS A REBATE.

ALIMONY IS MISSENT.

Boyd J. Lester scored one on his wife in Judge Monroe's court yesterday when he complained that she had paid two of the children in a home and sent the third to her mother's thereby reducing the cost of supporting them on the $40 a month he was required to pay.

He asked the court to reduce the alimony on this account, and he was allowed a credit of $10, but no reduction.

"An alimony order is an order," the court intimated. Lester, and he told her the money her husband paid must be spent on the children.

CITED FOR CONTEMPT.

MUST PAY HIS ALIMONY.

Mrs. W. D. Newell had her husband cited into court yesterday for contempt in failing to pay her $15

a month alimony as ordered by Judge

Monroe. The court warned Newell, of the W. D. Newell Plumbing Company, that he was in danger of going to jail. The Newells were divorced

November 13, 1912.

Newell pleaded his inability to pay the alimony, and the case was dismissed in view of the fact that there is a civil suit now pending for decision before Judge Conley growing out of alleged bills contracted by Mrs.

Newell and which it is alleged aggregate more than the back alimony.
